

JUNE 2022

BROADWAY HIT WICKED

On Saturday, May 7, the American Spirit Club traveled to Omaha to attend the Broadway hit "Wicked". On our way we stopped at a rest stop for a muffin and coffee break!

We had a blast at the opening day of the 2022 season of the Omaha Farmers Market in the Old Market. There were so many vendors it was difficult to decide what to put in our American Spirit Club reusable grocery bags.

We enjoyed a delicious lunch at the Upstream Brewery. The staff did a wonderful job making us feel welcome and it was so nice to have time to visit.

This was my 3rd time seeing Wicked! I loved it all over again. It was enlightening to watch the characters develop courage to overcome stereotypes and realize the true meaning of friendship.

The theme for our day was "GREEN"! We played the Green Game and most of our treats were green. Again, I was reminded of how much I am blessed by the friendships of my Spirit Club friends. "Because I knew you, I have been changed for good!"

"The Spirit of Us"

Let's face it, summertime brings with it not only welcome warm weather, but a sense of adventure and possibility. The Spirit Club has a few adventures planned for the summer. It's the time of year to visit family and friends too. I also want to remind you to make time to sit back and relax during this wonderful season.

June is National Dairy Month so go out today and make sure you buy and indulge in some of your favorite dairy products. Enjoy milk on your morning cereal, a yummy yogurt and fruit parfait for a snack or a creamy bowl of ice cream for dessert tonight. When you see one of our local dairy farmers, make sure to thank them for their hard work.

The American Spirit Club Picnic will be held on Tuesday, June 21 at the Terrace View Event Center in Sioux Center at 5:30 pm. Reservations are required, and the guest list is filling up fast. Please call the Sioux Center ASB office by June 10 to save your place. More information is available on the second page of this publication.

There shall be an eternal summer in the grateful heart.

TOP TIPS TO PREVENT CYBERCRIME

Many of us have gotten the email (or text, or call)—it looks like it's from Amazon, but something seems off. You might have gotten a text saying you won a raffle, or that there is some suspicious activity on your Amazon account.

Scammers are good at what they do, but there are still plenty of red flags you can watch out for to protect yourself from falling for their tricks. Here are some common signs of scammers and tips to help you catch them in the act:

- Poor grammar, spelling, and punctuation (in texts and emails).
- The message requests that you log in to your account via email.
- The message requests payments to be made outside of the Amazon website.
- The caller requests remote access to your electronic device.
- The message asks you to verify sensitive personal information.
- The message offers a refund you were not expecting.
- You receive an order confirmation for an item you did not purchase.
- The message asks you to update payment information (not linked to an order you placed or service you subscribed to).
- The email address does not end in "@amazon.com."

If you're suspicious of a call, email, or text that claims to be from an Amazon representative, do not respond. Instead, visit your account online to see if the message or call you've received is accurate, and contact Amazon customer service to verify (only use the contact information listed on Amazon's site).

If you're concerned a scammer may already have your account information, change your password immediately. Additionally, if the scammer may have your bank information, contact your bank for help figuring out the next steps in order to protect your account. To prevent future scams, consider downloading a call blocker. Amazon also suggests their users set up two-step verification to protect their accounts.

Finally, report any suspicious calls, emails, or texts to Amazon, as well as the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) to help inform and protect other Amazon customers.

Due to the uncertainty of the COVID-19 pandemic, all tours are subject to change.
American Spirit Club will continue to monitor the situation and adjust or cancel tours as needed.
